CELEBRATION When the restoration and rehabilitation of Cutler Hall, now under way, has been completed next year the building will be re-dedicated with appropriate ceremonies.

Recently an alert civic leader pointed out that 1947 will present the city of Athens with an excellent opportunity for publicizing its historic origin by staging a celebration in recognition of the sesquicentennial of its settlement in 1797.

The local community was designated as Athens in 1800, and was incorporated in 1811. As early as 1802 a post road was established through this section, from Marietta to Cincinnati. In 1805, Athens became the county seat of the newly created county of Athens.

The first school within the town was built in 1806 or 1807. The first churches were built later, a Methodist church in 1812 or 1813, and a Presbyterian church in 1828.

"These and countless other interesting facts," declares this civic-minded Athenian, "point to the opportunity which presents itself to direct the interest of the state and nation to this early birthplace of free education, and to draw attention to the facilities which exist here today as a result of the long, steady climb from a cabin in the wilderness. To support our efforts in this respect we have the approval and assistance of the Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society, the Ohio Development and Publicity Commission, and other agencies."

While no definite plans or announcements have been made, it is possible that Ohio University alumni will have an occasion next year to come back to a "double feature" celebration that will be worth a long trek to attend.

SEATS Officials at the athletics department report that exactly 1,001 reserved seat tickets were sold for gridiron games this fall to persons who took advantage of the preferential seating offer made to members of the Ohio University Alumni Association who ordered tickets prior to September 1.

While not all of the 1,000 spectators sat on the 50-yard line, the early birds among them did just that thing much to their pleasure and satisfaction. All seats were assigned preferentially in the order of the receipt of the requests for them.

The plan will be followed again next year and from the expressions of approval this fall it is safe to predict that fully double the number of Alumni Association members will take advantage of it in 1947.

ROOMS The possession of proper educational qualifications and sufficient financial resources to meet the demands of the treasurer used to be the chief prerequisites for admission to a college or university. Now one must be able to prove that he has a place to live before he receives the O.K. of the admissions officer.

Such is the case at Ohio University. The limitation on enrollment was fixed this fall by the maximum capacity of the campus and town to provide shelter for those desiring to come. This limiting factor still exists. Because of mid-year graduations and the expected completion of some temporary housing facilities, however, it will be possible for the university to admit a few more students, both men and women, for the second semester, beginning February 3, than have yet applied. But only those applying for admission immediately will be sure of a favorable reply from Dr. Dilley.

It is not too early to make entrance arrangements for 1947-1948. Many alumni with sons and daughters "pointed" for their alma mater were disappointed this year by the failure of the youngsters to get in. So send now for admission and room reservation blanks in order to avoid disappointment next fall.

COVER The picture on the front cover was taken at Ohio Stadium on Homecoming Day, October 26. The Ohio University Band has just finished playing a snappy arrangement of "Stand Up and Cheer" and is stepping off to form a more complex figure. The crowd in the East Stand is the largest ever assembled there. The Miami band is to be seen lined up along the far side of the gridiron.

Other Homecoming Day pictures will be found on pages 6, 7, 11, and 15. Court Street, as illustrated in the last picture, was packed almost its entire length.

ANNUAL DUES for membership in the Ohio University Alumni Association are $2.50, of which $1.50 is for a year's subscription to The Ohio Alumnus. Memberships are renewable on October first of each year.

DISCONTINUANCE—If any subscriber wishes his Alumnus discontinued at the expiration of his subscription, notice to that effect should be sent with the subscription, or at its expiration. Otherwise it is understood that a continuance is desired.

REMITTANCE should be made, by check or money order payable to the order of the Ohio University Alumni Association, and mailed to the Association, Box 285, Athens, Ohio.

Alumni Hold Meetings in Local Centers

THE NOVEMBER 9 meeting of the Ohio University Women's Club of Youngstown, held at the Shadylawn Tea Room, was in the nature of a dessert bridge. Green and white colors were effectively employed in table decorations, tallies, and score pads. Mrs. Wilfred Osberg (Louise Albert) was the program chairman. Ruth Duncan, club president, presided over the business session.

The next meeting of the Youngstown alumnae is scheduled for January 25. It will be a luncheon with Mrs. J. E. Bennett as the speaker. Program chairman: Doris Moore.

Columbus Fund Workers

Pointing out that the development of high scholarship and leadership and the encouragement of research, primary objectives of universities today, are among the principal aims of the new Ohio University Fund, President John C. Baker addressed a dinner meeting of 60 Franklin County fund workers held at the Seneca Hotel in Columbus on November 12.

This dinner was the "kickoff" for the first in the 1946 series of fund solicitations. It was presided over by Harold E. Wise, associate fund director, from the campus, while arrangements for it were made by Frank H. Palmer, chairman of the Franklin County fund organization. Five teams of 10 alumni each are currently engaged in the solicitation of alumni in the Columbus area.

New York Get-Together Planned

Plans are being made for a "get-together" of Ohioans in the New York City area and nearby points in New Jersey on Sunday afternoon, December 29, at the Midston House, 22 East 38th St., in the City. Several members of the Ohio University faculty will attend the reunion, including Dean W. S. Gamertsfelder, Prof. George Starr Lasher, Artist-in-Residence John Rood, and Alumni Secretary Clark E. Williams.

When all details have been arranged, notices will be mailed to persons known to be living in the New York district. Persons failing to receive a notice by December 23 should call or write Mrs. Kenneth A. Barnett (Mary Elizabeth Lasher), 73 Perry St., New York 14, N. Y. Mrs. Barnett's telephone is listed in the Manhattan directory.

Fund Total Growing

A press time report from Harold E. Wise, associate director of the Ohio University Fund, Inc., indicates that gifts totaling $17,884.50 have been received from 168 contributors. The figures do not include the returns, not yet complete, from several alumni centers where special canvasses are being made.

satisfaction of knowing that he is helping Ohio University grow. He also stressed to solicitors the importance of securing and building good will, explaining that "what counts is not so much the total in dollars at the end of a year as the total in good will at the end of a decade."

Other speakers at the Columbus meeting were Arthur C. Johnson, editor of the Columbus Dispatch and chairman of the fund board, and John G. Case, Columbus insurance man and fund director. Special music for the dinner was provided by a male quartet from the campus under the direction of Prof. P. L. Peterson.

All-Cleveland Meeting

The Cleveland Bobcats (men) and the Ohio University Women's Club of Cleveland joined forces, November 14, in a dinner meeting at Hotel Cleveland. Because of conflicting engagements it was necessary for President Baker to fly to Cleveland to keep his appointment as guest speaker.

the men's organization, presided at the joint gathering. Blanche Robinson is president of the women's group. George M. Brown, national president of the Ohio University Alumni Association, was the toastmaster.

On December 7 members of the Women's Club will meet for luncheon at the Cleveland Athletic Club, with Mrs. S. H. Bing, of the Cleveland Welfare Federation, as speaker.

The next Bobcat activity will be their Christmas Dance (see special notice on this page) on December 21. This will be followed on January 28 by a dinner at the Carter Hotel at which Athletic Director Don Peden will be a special guest.

Youngstown Mothers

The second meeting of the year of the Ohio University Mothers' Club of Youngstown was held at the Shadylawn Tea Room on November 20. Two mothers who had attended the 1946 Homecoming in Athens reported on high-lights of the celebration and movies of the same were shown. Mrs. Carl Johnson is the club president.

Bobcat Christmas Dance

What will hereafter be an annual party is the Christmas Dance, sponsored by the Ohio University Bobcat Club of Cleveland, to be held at the University Club on Euclid Avenue (next to the Cleveland Arena) on the night of December 21.

All Ohio University alumni and undergraduates are eligible and welcome to attend the dance, which the sponsors predict will be a gala affair.

Tickets for the dance are $1.50 per person and may be obtained from George M. Brown, 504 Bulkeley Bldg. (CHerry 5695) or at the Haberacker Optical Co., 2022 East 9th St. (MAin 2430).

Whiting To Edit New Magazine Backed By Outstanding Figures

THE YEAR 1946, just a decade after his graduation from Ohio University, will bulk large in the biography of John Randolph Whiting. In December the first book of which he is the author, "Photography Is a Language," will be published at approximately the same time a book of portraits by Karsh, entitled "Faces of Destiny," which he has edited, will be off the press. But, perhaps most significant, the end of the year finds him at work on the first issue of '47, a magazine announced for publication next February, of which he is managing editor. It is to be the co-operative effort of about three hundred of the outstanding writers, artists, and photographers in this country, including such well known figures as John Hersey, John Steinbeck, Stuart Cloethe, Pearl Buck, Margaret Cull'n Bann'ng, Clifton P. Fadiman, Ernest K. Lindley, Raymond Swing, Dwight Shepler, Sam Berman, Andre Kertesz, and John Des Passos.

The opportunity to edit this magazine, which will change its name each year as the calendar changes, came partly as a result of Mr. Whiting's extraordinary success as managing editor of Popular Photography. When he took charge of this magazine in February, 1943, its circulation was 160,000. Now its circulation is 330,000, and its advertising has increased from 25 pages to 120 pages, despite decidedly higher rates. Popular Photography had the largest increase of newsstand sales of any magazine published in the year 1945, 53%. Previous to his employment by the Ziff-Davis Publishing Company, Mr. Whiting was news picture editor for the overseas branch of O.W.I., taking over that work when he resigned as managing editor of Click, which picture magazine he had served for two years previous as assistant editor.

After his graduation from Ohio University in February, 1936, as a journalism major, he became general manager and editor of the Standard Reporter of Montgomery, New York, and the Pine Bush News, two community weeklies. He later was in the advertising department of Editor & Publisher, and then became a member of the staff of the Literary Digest. After the demise of that publication and service as associate editor of the magazine True he worked for Your Life.

About two years ago Mr. Whiting edited a book of photographs entitled "Mexico, The Work of Fritz Henle," and wrote the introduction to the volume. He has also edited "New York," by Andreas Feininger and "Paris" by Elliott Paul. His picture articles dealing with the Navy at war appeared in several publications.

Behind the publication of '47 is an interesting story. In 1945 Jerome Ellison, former associate editor of Readers Digest, editor of Liberty, and managing editor of Colliers, did some research as to how much of a magazine budget went to contributors. He found it to be but 10% at most. As a result, he prepared a prospectus and sent it to 200 fellow magazine contributors, bringing out the fact that even the magazine which is considered almost fanatically generous gives but $45,000 to its contributors on an issue that clears $900,000. His suggestion that the contributors establish a magazine owned and directed by them met with enthusiastic approval. Pledges were limited to a minimum of $500 and a maximum of $5,000, but each holder is entitled only to one vote. Fifteen percent of the profits before taxes are to go for management, one-third on a royalty basis to contributors themselves, and the remainder to the stockholders.

Charter subscriptions are now being received in great numbers as a result of an extensive advertising campaign. The magazine will be pocket size, adless, and its contents will be made up of 60% text and 40% photography and art work, including a considerable amount of color. Each issue will contain approximately 148 pages. The first press run will be 500,000 copies to be sold at 25c a copy. According to Vice President Ellison, the magazine will break even at a newsstand sale of 420,000 and will return 100% on its investment each year if it reaches 700,000.

Mr. Whiting's wife (Helen Gamertsfelder, '38) and two daughters, Wendy and Merry, are visiting Mrs. Whiting's father, Dr. Walter S. Gamertsfelder, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and the Graduate College of Ohio University, before going East to take possession of the home in Dobbs Ferry, New York, which Mr. Whiting has recently purchased.

Alumni Hold Meetings

The mothers have planned a Christmas party for December and for January a benefit party for the Ohio University Fund.

Cincinnatians Meet

To reactivate their group which had been inactive during the war years, members of the Cincinnati chapter met for dinner at the East Side Y.M.C.A., near Xavier University, following the Xavier-Ohio football game on November 23. Arthur L. Moler presided in the absence of the president, William L. Kircher.

Dean W. S. Gamertsfelder was the special guest and speaker from the campus. Other speakers were Harold E. Wise and the Alumni Secretary.

Officers elected for the coming year were: Charles O. Lintner, president; B. F. Fulks, vice president; Helen Sarver, secretary; and Mr. Moler, treasurer.

Hudson Inaugurates New Series

CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS is generally credited with discovering America.

And down through the years the generally accepted view has discredited him with introducing syphilis upon his return to the Old World in 1493.

But Dr. E. Herndon Hudson, Ohio University's Health Service director, no relation to sex, whereas the civilized pattern, exemplified by syphilis, is an adult disease directly related to sex.

Dr. Hudson wrote his recently published book entitled "Treponematoses" as the outgrowth of his experience among the Bedouins of the Euphrates region. There he found children infected by the parasite of syphilis, but the disease was not syphilis. He reported the disease as a non-venereal syphilis or treponematoses.

The book relates all conditions and patterns to each other under the term treponematoses, and traces the history of the disease, particularly opposing the conventional view that Columbus took syphilis from America to Europe on his return voyage.

Tracing the evolution of treponematoses, he said the first pattern was the non-venereal, which appeared in remote antiquity in a tropical environment such as Africa, and spread with human migrations throughout the tropics where it is found in abundance today.

Under the hygienic conditions of civilization in the temperate climate, however, the disease later assumed its present pattern of syphilis, a venereal disease of adults.

In enumerating the practical advantages of the evolutionary interpretation of syphilis, he said this theory "combines in intelligible fashion many of the scattered diseases of the world, which should result in a better understanding of the whole disease and each of its components."

The speaker said it was obviously an illusion to hope for a syphilis-free civilization while conditions such as yaws remain rampant in wide areas of the world.

"The education of the primitive native to live more hygienically, and the education of the civilized man to a solution of his maladjustments in sex are parts of the same problem."

Thus, in a sense, syphilis is an unwelcome by-product of civilization's ascent to higher levels of hygiene, Dr. Hudson declared.

He expressed the opinion that full use of the world view of treponematoses in its medical, sociological, geographical and historical perspective would greatly strengthen present-day anti-syphilis propaganda, and thus contribute to the welfare of mankind in its continuing struggle with an ancient disease.

Dr. Hudson's address, "A New Perspective on an Old Problem in Medical History," was the first of three lectures which will comprise the 1946-1947 Faculty Lecture Series. The series was inaugurated last year to promote the cultural advancement of the campus generally and to acquaint the public with work of faculty members. The lectures are being held this year in the Art Gallery of the Edwin Watts Chubb Library.

Director Hudson's new book, "Treponematoses," is a publication of the Oxford University Press. He has published numerous articles based on historical and clinical research in this field.

contains the Columbian theory is lacking in "historical perspective."

Speaking at the opening of the Faculty Lecture Series October 29, the physician who spent 14 years as a Presbyterian medical missionary working among the Bedouins in Syria, declared:

"Because syphilis was recognized in Europe for the first time about 1500, the simultaneous discovery of the New World led many to connect the two events erroneously, and the Columbian origin theory arose out of historical fallacy."

Recently returned from Guam where at the invitation of the Surgeon General of the Navy he lectured to naval medical officers on tropical diseases, the Ohio University doctor said the alternative, or evolutionary view, is based upon the fact that in wide areas of the tropical world there is a primitive disease, called by various names, such as yaws, which like syphilis, is caused by infection with spirochetes, or, more accurately, treponemes.

But, he explained, yaws is a childhood and community disease having

ALPHA PHI DELTA was awarded the trophy for the best float in the mens division of the Homecoming Parade this fall. On the float, pictured in the center of the page, was a man-size meat grinder into which Miami gridiron players were being fed and later fried up and served as "Miamburgers" to spectators along the route by white-jacketed waiters who followed the float . . .

The Phi Sigma Sigma entry was the winning float in the women's division. Labeled "Miami's Tabu," the float was decorated in orange and blue over a black drop. Four comely young ladies sprayed onlookers with perfume from huge atomizers while they protected their catch, representing O.U., in a cellophane bag . . .

Theta Chi fraternity was declared winner in the home decoration contest. Women's organizations did not compete for the home decoration prize . . . Attracting perhaps the most attention of any of the fraternity houses was the Delta Tau Delta "Shelter" which is pictured on the opposite page. Represented in the decoration was a huge pipe organ at the bench of which a figure was playing a "requiem" for the Gold Star men of the Ohio University (Beta) chapter and the Miami (Gamma Upsilon) chapter of the fraternity. These men were named on a large scroll standing at the left of the house. On a scroll to the right was an adaptation of a portion of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. The theme of the display was in keeping with the fact that this was the first real homecoming after the war. . . . Margaret Sinclair, of Pi Beta Phi sorority and a Cleveland junior, was chosen to reign as Varsity "O" homecoming queen at the annual Homecoming Dance in the Men's Gym . . . Pictured (see page 15) on the Beekley corner—Court and Union Streets—is a portion of the huge throng that turned out to see the Float Parade. Not yet visible in the picture is the 117-piece Ohio University Band which lead the parade.

IN ORDER TO FORESTALL a possible influenza epidemic on the campus, an epidemic which might spread rapidly due to the large number of students and crowded housing conditions, the Ohio University Health Service last month made available to all students and faculty and staff members the new flu vaccine which was developed and used so effectively by the Army. For most persons the shots produce little or no reaction except a slight soreness in the arm which leaves after a day or

TO PROVIDE personnel, educational, and occupational counseling for Ohio University freshmen, Dean Einar A. Hansen has planned a series of lectures to be given during the current semester. The first of the series was given Nov. 19, by Dr. Charles E. Holzer, an outstanding physician and surgeon of Gallipolis, who spoke on "Opportunities for Service in Medicine and Related Fields." On Nov. 25, Dr. D. R. Clippinger, professor of chemistry at Ohio University, described opportunities in the field of chemistry. On Dec. 5 Roger Connor, of the McBee Company, Athens, will speak as a representative of business. Dr. Don B. The athletic conference decided not to hold any indoor track meets before 1948. Dr. David Reese of Dayton, conference commissioner stated that a method would be devised by which all-conference football, basketball, and baseball teams will be chosen. There will be no indoor track meet before 1948.

DR. ARCH DAVIDSON, conductor of the Harvard Glee Club for over 30 years, will conduct the Ohio University Chorus in its concert on Sunday, March 23. The chorus will present its Christmas program on Sunday, December 15, under the direction of Prof. C. C. Robinson, director of the School of Music . . . The annual concert of the Women's Glee Club will be presented on Sunday, February 23, also under the baton of Professor Robinson . . . On Sunday, March 9, the Men's Glee Club will be presented in its annual concert, under the direction of Prof. Philip L. Peterson . . . The Ohio University Orchestra will be heard in concerts on December 8, March 2, and May 4. All dates are on Sunday. Prof. DeForest W. Ingerham is the orchestra conductor . . . The University Band will present concerts on January 19, April 24, May 16, and May 23. The last two concerts will be played outdoors on the campus. The band director is Daniel L. Martino. Plans are being made to invite Edwin Franko Goldman to be guest conductor of the band's formal concert . . . A series of faculty recitals will further delight music lovers.

OHIO UNIVERSITY has been selected as one of the educational institutions in the state to conduct examinations to select 5,000 high school students for the Navy's free college education program. Dr. Frank B. Dilley, Ohio University director of admissions and university examiner, will give tests on Jan. 18, as requested by the executive secretary of the Naval Examining Section's College Entrance Board at Princeton, N. J. The tests are designed to measure a candidate's qualifications for college work. A successful candidate may select the college of his choice from among 50 schools in the nation having Navy R.O.T.C. units.

MRS. LOUISE GATES EDDY who, with her husband, Dr. Sherwood Eddy, was a campus speaker during Ohio University's "Religion in Life Week," returned to the campus on Nov. 3 to be the guest speaker at the annual Ohio University Women's League Leaders' Rally luncheon. Until last year Mrs. Eddy was national secretary of the Y.W.C.A. in Canada. She has visited and talked with leaders in many fields in 34 countries and on four continents.

POEMS TO BE entered by Ohio University alumni or undergraduates in competition for the Emerson Poem Prize must be in the hands of the president of Ohio University by Feb. 1, 1947 . . . Upon his death in 1891 William Dana Emerson, of the Class of 1833, bequeathed to the board of trustees of Ohio University the sum of $1,000, the interest on which is awarded every second year to the students or graduates who write the best original poems. The award is divided into three prizes of $60, $40, and $20. The judges are three persons, appointed by the president of the university and the chairman of the department of English, who judge independently of each other. Interested persons may obtain further details from Dr. R. A. Foster, chairman of the department of English . . . Mr. Emerson was born at Marietta, July 9, 1813. He entered Ohio University at the age of 16 and graduated in 1833 with the highest honors of his class. According to a biographical sketch, "he was one of the teachers in the high school which opened up in Library Hall, on Front Street [Marietta] which afterwards unfolded into Marietta College." In 1836 he was assistant editor of the Marietta Gazette. His health failing, he went West where he taught school and wrote a number of poems many of which were published. In one of his poems, written in 1838, grateful memories of Athens and pleasant recollections of college life are recorded. He returned to Marietta in 1839, studied law, and was admitted to the bar. He prepared and published the first map of Washington County and was prosecuting attorney of that county for one year. For more than 10 years he maintained a law office in Cincinnati, but devoted himself mainly to literary pursuits.

APPROXIMATELY 150 girls expressing an interest in rifle shooting met recently to reorganize the Ohio University girls' rifle team. The reactivation is under the chairmanship of Jean Hendricks, Youngstown. Letters are being sent to several universities to arrange for matches with other girls' teams . . . The R.O.T.C. rifle team is already hooked to fire telegraphic matches with the University of Wisconsin, University of Pittsburgh, and the University of Delaware. The R.O.T.C. unit will also enter the William Randolph Hearst matches, a national competition, which Ohio University won in 1938 and 1941 . . . Open to all men students will be the Varsity rifle team which has its first scheduled match on Feb. 15 with the University of Wisconsin Varsity . . . War veterans and previous members of the crack Pershing Rifles unit at Ohio University have reorganized "The Rifles" with John M. Nolan, Bowers-ton, as head of the group.

COOPERATING with the Alliance Francaise, the Art Department brought to the campus last month an exhibition of color reproductions of Nineteenth Century French paintings. It is to be followed later by a similar exhibition of Twentieth Century French paintings. The pictures were loaned by the French consulate in New York.

DEBATE TEAMS representing Wooster College and Ohio University were guests of the Athens Rotary Club on Nov. 17, discussing the proposition: "Resolved that the United Nations should be changed to a Federal World Government." Carol Brosmer, Rocky River, and Betty Newland, Lima, taking the negative and representing Ohio University, were the winners. One week later Jean Dow, Athens, and Jeanette Parfitt, The Plains, under Green and White colors and espousing the affirmative side of the above question, met a duo of women debaters from Ohio Wesleyan.

Eastern Camera Artist Comes To Campus As An Instructor

When Miss Gerda Peterich, New York City photographer, applied for admission to Ohio University to earn a university degree in photography, she received—much to her surprise—an invitation to come here as a visiting lecturer. Now she finds herself teaching courses in commercial and practical photography rather than working for a degree.

She became interested in the photography department because it is believed that Ohio University is the only school in the country offering a master's degree with a major in photography.

So that's why photography students on the campus at Athens are benefiting from the expert instruction of the staff photographer for Dance magazine and former staff member of the School of Modern Photography in New York City.

Born in Munich, Germany, and a resident of Italy for many years, the vivacious blonde came to this country seven years ago and is now a naturalized citizen. Since her arrival in the United States, Miss Peterich has become recognized especially for her dance photography and portraits, although she emphasizes that her interest is not confined to these fields. She likes to photograph "anything in action," such as airplanes, and she hopes to learn to fly.

Her interest in the dance extends back earlier than her interest in photography, Miss Peterich explains. She has a musical and art background which provides her with a "good rhythmic feeling" invaluable in her dance photography. And she has had some dance instruction—not enough to make her a dancer, she says, but enough to give her a thorough knowledge of what she is photographing.

One of Miss Peterich's best-known portraits, as well as one of her own favorites, is that entitled "Mothers of Men," a montage portraying facial expressions of dancer Pauline Koner. This portrait, along with that of Hanya Holm, famous teacher of dance, has never been rejected in any exhibit to which she has submitted it.

The successful young photographer prefers modern dancing to ballet for subject matter in her action photography because it is more expressive. She writes about her work as a dance and portrait photographer as clearly as she portrays the dancers themselves and has had many articles published in camera and dance magazines.

The commercial photography course which Miss Peterich is teaching this fall is being conducted on "as high an artistic level as possible," and at the start consisted mainly of exercises, with emphasis on good technique and craftsmanship. A two-semester course, it takes up photography of inanimate subjects primarily in the first term and covers people and action shooting in the second term. The practical photography course deals with individual problems of the class, such as the study of scientific camera illustration, photographic feature stories, and photographic survey.

Ohio University's photography department, organized in 1937 with one course, now offers 16 courses totaling 56 credit hours. This is almost half the amount of work required for a degree. A Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Fine Arts, or a master's degree may be earned in photography.

In September, 1944, the department moved from its original small laboratory to a new one covering 2500 square feet and occupying the entire ground floor of the Fine Arts Building. Along with the physical expansion of the department came the increase in its staff, including the addition of Miss Peterich as a visiting lecturer.

Miss Peterich tells how she left Europe just in time to avoid being drafted into using her photographic

Director Gubitz Points Out Advantages of Branch Units

Students attending Ohio University's three branches have at least four "advantages" often overlooked.

That was the opinion of Director of Branches Albert C. Gubitz after classes had been under way for three months at Portsmouth, Chillicothe, and Zanesville, giving him a chance to study the off-campus educational facilities.

The four advantages he listed are:

1. Small classes which allow individual instruction.
2. Most classes meet once a week in the late afternoon or evening.
3. Students can stay at home, thus cutting down the cost, or live in less crowded quarters while going to college, factors particularly appreciated by married veterans.
4. Part-time employment is readily available because of less crowded communities.

Director Gubitz concedes that branch students "unfortunately do not have an opportunity to take part in campus activities" such as fraternities, sororities, publications, varsity athletics and various organizations.

But dances, parties, and monthly convocations are being held at the branches, he reported to President Baker in analyzing the program.

As for athletics, the Bobcat basketball team will play Morris Harvey College at Portsmouth on Jan. 14 and the University of Louisville at Chillicothe, Feb. 7. The junior varsity quintet also will play games at the branches. Teams will be organized in the three schools and outfitted with uniforms to play in preliminaries to the 10 home games at Athens in the Men's Gym.

Director Gubitz emphasized the "personal advising program" in effect at the three cities, saying that all branch students are given the same comprehensive counseling upon entering.

ability for the benefit of the Nazi party. Having been required to enter work in state professional competitions, she was about to be earmarked as an expert, for her entries had repeatedly won prizes.

But fortunately it was Ohio University, and not the Nazi party, who employed Miss Peterich's talents as a photography expert.

Progress Made in Building Program

WITH completion of the $500,000 Chemistry and Research Building expected by June 1, 1947, Ohio University today has under way plans for an Engineering Science Building and a new dormitory for men.

President John C. Baker reports that bids will be sought soon for the engineering building estimated to cost $200,000. To be located on President Street in the area now occupied by Sprague Hall near South Bridge and diagonally across from Super Hall, it will be a three-story brick structure designed to receive a major addition when further funds are appropriated.

Slated to house 200 men, the new dormitory will cost approximately $500,000. It will be a three-story brick edifice and will be erected on University Terrace directly opposite the Alumni Memorial Auditorium.

A contract has been awarded for repairs and improvement of the university heating plant to cost $134,000. Equipment to be added includes a 500-kilowatt turbine, two new replacement boilers, and coal conveyers.

As reported in the November Alumnus, the rehabilitation and restoration of Cutler Hall, oldest college building in the Northwest Territory, is going forward at a cost of $147,000.

Meanwhile, filling, draining, and tiling of the old garden area, now known as the Lower Campus, has been completed under a special grant of $100,000 from the State Legislature. The site, east of University Terrace and between East Union and Mulberry streets, has been filled in to a depth of two feet above the highest flood level.

Twenty-three FPHA temporary dormitories to house 600 single veterans and a cafeteria to accommodate that number will be erected on the Lower Campus.

Pictured in the aerial view are 18 rectangular and 5 T-type dormitories now under construction. One of the large T-type dormitories, to accommodate 61 veterans, may be distinctly seen right center.

A maintenance and storage building of temporary nature is to be erected and joined to the cafeteria. This building, as well as the cafeteria, will come from Point Pleasant, W.

Va., having been used formerly by the Army Ordnance Works.

Fifteen two-story family type dormitories will be put up on East State Street opposite the Children's Home. These FPHA buildings will house 115 World War II veterans and their families. All FPHA housing is slated to be ready for occupancy by Feb. 1, 1947.

To help meet the pressing need for classroom space and recreational facilities for the record enrollment of 4920 students on the campus in Athens, President Baker has requested and has been promised three additional temporary buildings by the Community Facilities unit of the Federal Works Agency. Obtainable under the Mead Act, they will be moved to Athens from buildings declared surplus by the War Department.

The FWA approval covers:

1. A classroom building, 12,000 square feet in size, to provide class space for 600 students.
  2. A recreational structure (4500 square feet) aimed to "take some of the pressure off the Student Center Building," now overcrowded. It would be erected opposite the Student Center on the north side of the campus.
  3. A building (4500 square feet) to serve as office space for instructors.
- All three temporary buildings are to come equipped with furniture, including chairs, desks, and file cabinets. Folding chairs were requested for the recreational building.

Rehabilitation of Ewing Hall is planned when the Chemistry Building is completed, although definite procedure has not been worked out.

Gordon K. Bush, '24, editor and publisher of The Athens Messenger, is chairman of the Planning, Building, and Land Purchase Committee of the Board of Trustees of Ohio University. Members of this committee have developed and are now working on many of the details of a comprehensive and long-term building program for the university.

"Statehood period" furniture is being planned for use in the "Manassch Cutler Room" of Cutler Hall when the work of restoration is completed.

Erwin C. Zepp, assistant director of the Ohio State Archeological and Historical Society, and Dr. James H. Rodabaugh, research associate and acting director of the society, have been in conference with President Baker, at the latter's invitation, on appropriate furnishings for the Cutler room.

Mr. Zepp stated that "furniture used in Ohio from 1800 to 1823 would be considered authentic to identify Cutler Hall with the period in which it was built."

The Bobcat Sports Review

By Ralph Stone Smith

DEFEATING Xavier University, 25-6, Ohio University's gridders ended a fairly successful season Nov. 23 with a record of six wins and three losses.

The Bobcats, with a team made up largely of freshmen and sophomores, scored 206 points while their nine opponents were able to tally only 97.

Wins were registered over Murray (Ky.) State Teachers by 27-7, Western Michigan 25-7, Muskingum College 38-0, Ohio Wesleyan University 49-7, Baldwin-Wallace 21-14, and Xavier 25-6.

Don C. Peden, in his 23rd year as head coach, saw his eleven lose to the University of Cincinnati by 19-0, Miami University 23-14, and to the University of Dayton 14-7.

By far the outstanding player for Ohio U. was King Brady of Yakima, Wash., ace quarterback and triple-threat man. He accounted for 12 touchdowns for 72 points to become one of the nation's leading scorers. He called the signals in a smart fashion, carried the ball much oftener than a quarterback ordinarily would have to, punted, and passed.

Only five players on the 50-man squad are seniors who will be lost by graduation. They are Bill Hartman of Canal Winchester, a fullback; Bill Hess of Columbus, guard; John Kerns of Geneva, tackle; Don Thomas of Youngstown, guard; and Ed Zednik of Cleveland, end.

Thus, the Bobcats should have a better club next year, as the World War II veteran-studded team will have had the advantage of playing together a year, making for a smoother working machine. Reserves are available to replace seniors.

Sparked by Brady, the Bobcats racked up a 25-6 win in Cincinnati at the expense of Xavier before a slim Musketeer homecoming crowd of approximately 3000.

Ohio opened the scoring in the second quarter with a 51-yard touchdown drive, the Yakima sophomore plunging over from four yards out. Halfback Ed Sudnick of Cleveland, who had converted 13 in a row, had the string broken when his placement was blocked.

Late in the period John Laughridge of Rushsylvania, a substitute guard, recovered a fumble on Xavier's 30-yard stripe. Brady passed to Half Ralph Sayre of New Haven, W. Va., for eight yards and a TD. Sudnick's kick was wide.

Xavier's Halfback Bob Conway scored his team's only touchdown in the third stanza on a four-yard off-tackle smash. The kick was no good.

The Bobcats counted a couple more touchdowns in the fourth period. Brady went over from the three-yard line, culminating a 40-yard drive. Sudnick converted.

Halfback Chris Stefan of Dayton set up the final tally by intercepting a pass on Ohio U.'s 40 and lugging it to Xavier's 17. Sayre, on a reverse, traveled the 17 yards to score. Sudnick failed to convert on his final and 30th try of the season, having made 20 of them good. Score: Ohio U. 25, Xavier 6.

With only five minutes left to play the University of Dayton's Fullback Don Pinciotti went through right guard for five yards and a touchdown to give his team a 14-7 victory over Ohio U. in a Dad's Day game.

Approximately 7500 fans saw the Flyers outplay the Bobcats on the ground and match them in the air on Nov. 16, rolling to 17 first downs to 13 for Ohio. Dayton netted 232 yards from scrimmage to 157 and completed three of six passes for 62 yards. Ohio U. gained 58 yards on three of the 13 aerials attempted.

After a scoreless first half, the Flyers sent Halfback Jack Castignola around right end in the third period for 15 yards and a touchdown. Right Tackle Bill Goss converted.

On the fourth play of the last period Sayre went through his own right guard on a reverse for 13 yards and a TD, climaxing a 63-yard drive spearheaded by Brady in which the Bobcats made six first downs in a row. Sudnick converted to tie the score. Then followed Pinciotti's touchdown and Goss' second conversion. Score: Ohio U. 7, Dayton 14.

Scoring a touchdown in the last minute, the Bobcats tripped Baldwin-Wallace College 21-14 to knock the Yellow Jackets out of the ranks of undefeated state grid-ers on Nov. 9.

Approximately 5500 fans at Ohio Stadium saw Brady drive over from the two-yard line after he had set up the touchdown by returning a kick-off 52 yards on a pretty open field run.

Baldwin-Wallace rolled to 15 first downs, 12 of them in the first half, for a total of 128 yards net from scrimmage. Ohio U. made 11 first downs for a net of 231.

The aerial-minded Jackets attempted 22 passes, making 12 of them good for 131 yards. The Bobcats tried seven, completing two for 22 yards.

Ohio U. scored on the fifth play of the game on a two-yard push by Fullback Dick Hodona of Cleveland. Sudnick converted. The Berca eleven tied it up on the first play of the second period when Halfback Bob Wallace plunged to paydirt from a yard out. Halfback Marion Bulzomi's kick was good.

Brady plunged for a touchdown in the third, Sudnick converting, but the Jackets again tied up the half game in the fourth period when End

Bob Bell took a 12-yard touch-down pass behind the goal line. Bulzomi added the extra point.

Then Brady took the kick-off on his own 9-yard line, returning it to the B.W. 39. Three first downs were clicked off and Brady went over from the two-yard marker. Sudnick converted. Score: Ohio U. 21, Baldwin-Wallace 14.

The Bobcats crushed Ohio Wesleyan Nov. 2 at Delaware by 49-7, the most one-sided score in the long rivalry between the schools.

The Bishops' homecoming was spoiled as the burly Bobcats scored once in the opening period, twice in the second, again in the third, and three times in the fourth stanza.

Three of Ohio U.'s scores stemmed from passes, one from a blocked kick and the remainder from the hard-driving running attack.

Six Bobcats figured in the seven touchdowns, End Ray Calico of Ashland, Ky., caught a couple of touchdown tosses in the end zone. Milt Taylor, a halfback from Columbus, Brady and Stefan accounted for one apiece via the ground route.

End Stan Vrabec of Euclid scooped up a blocked punt on his own 27-yard line and went the distance for another TD. Left Tackle Gene Ruskowski of Cleveland counted once when Brady faded and heaved a pass to Vrabec who lateralled to him on the 12-yard line from where he bulled his way over. Sudnick had a field day, making all seven conversions good.

Basketball Prospects "Bright"

WITH NINE LETTER MEN and a trio of outstanding newcomers available, Ohio University's prospects for a winning basketball team this season appear "bright." Coach W. J. (Dutch) Trautwein believed when questioned recently.

Beginning his eighth year as head basketball coach, the veteran mentor was optimistic as his squad of 17 men, including 14 World War II veterans, was being whipped into shape for the opening game here Dec. 7 with Wayne University.

The tilt marks the opening of competition in the newly formed Mid-American Conference made up of Wayne, Western Reserve, Butler, Cincinnati and Ohio universities.

Mr. Don C. Peden
Ohio University
Athens, Ohio

Dear Don Peden:

Thanks for your invitation to the football dinner on the 4th December.

Could I attend (which I cannot) and should I be called upon for a toast, it would be to that fine spirit of sportsmanship so consistently applied to educational ideals, which has marked the Peden leadership from first to now.

You may be sure that the Trustees of Ohio University entertain a solemn appreciation of your long tenure at Athens, unshaken by temptation of greener pastures.

It isn't so much WHAT you have done and are doing, as it is HOW you have done and are doing it.

Yours,

(signed) Arthur C. Johnson

The above letter was read by President John C. Baker to the 115 persons—varsity and freshman football players, coaching staff, faculty athletic committee, and special guests—who attended the Annual Football Banquet, with the comment that it represented the sincere sentiments of all of the members of the Ohio University Board of Trustees and of the university administration. Mr. Johnson is a member of the governing board of the university.

(* ) Denotes letterman

(A) Army Veteran—(N) Navy Veteran.

"The Bobcat squad has experienced lettermen for every position, and although we lack height, I think it will be offset by our speed and fight," Trautwein declared. Six of the men on the squad are less than six feet tall, and the rangiest is Daryl Gregory of Radcliff, second string center, who stands 6-5.

The Green and White, which won 15 out of 20 frays last season and ran up 1086 points against 924, has a rugged 23-game schedule which includes a round robin with loop members plus frays with such leading cage quintets as the University of Kentucky, University of Akron, and Bowling Green State University.

Using the fast-breaking offense, the attack is being built around Forwards Kenny Walters of New Lexington, a senior and high point man last year with 258 counters, and Dick Shrider of Glenford, new to the Ohio U. squad but not to basketball circles, as he was an All-Ohio interscholastic selection two years in a row. A good shot, Shrider is being primed to fill the shoes of Bob (Fizz) Miller, sensational forward who graduated last year as one of the all-time great Bobcat basketeters.

At the pivot spot will be Bob Dickey, Lancaster sophomore who stands 6-3/2. He is a neat ball handler and accounted for 182 points last season for third high scoring honors.

Harry Gordon of Cleveland and Russ Gregg of Ashville, lettermen at guard, are slated to round out the starting lineup. Gregg, a sophomore, is a scrappy ball player and looked good last year. Gordon, who made a letter in 1942-43 and is back after serving his Uncle Sam in the Army Air Corps, is a junior who will give opposing forwards "plenty of trouble."

Another newcomer to see considerable action is Gene Gyrko of Toledo, a freshman transfer from the University of Toledo and one of the fastest men on the squad.

Other hardcourt players expected to be in the lineup a majority of the games are Forwards Bill Hasselbach of Middletown, who lettered in 1942-43; Bruce Morehead of Bremen, monogram winner in 1943-44; and Bob Johnson, Athens sophomore; and Guards Bob Brandle of Chillicothe and Harry Lamb of Lancaster, both lettermen from last year's team, and Bill Dietrich of Euclid, a newcomer to the squad after a season at end on the Bobcat football team.

Following the Wayne fray, Ohio U. takes a non-conference foe in Marietta College here Dec. 10 and then Western Reserve invades the Bobcat lair Dec. 14.

Remainder of the schedule: Dec. 17—at Dayton; Dec. 21—at Akron; Jan. 4—at Kentucky; Jan. 7—Xavier; Jan. 11—at Wayne; Jan. 14—Morris Harvey at Portsmouth (Ohio U. Branch); Jan. 17—at Cincinnati; Jan. 18—at Miami; Jan. 21—at Ohio Wesleyan; Jan. 24—Bowling Green.

ing as is afforded on the main campus. Personal interviews are conducted with all students to help work out course schedules.

A full curriculum has been set up for the freshman year to meet the requirements of the University College and the Colleges of Commerce, Arts and Sciences, Education, Fine Arts, and Applied Science.

Chemistry has proved to be the "most popular" course with 107 students enrolled in Portsmouth, 99 in Chillicothe, and 75 in Zanesville, Zoology, psychology, English, and philosophy are other subjects in which a large proportion of the students are enrolled.

A total of 877 students are now registered at the branches. Three hundred eighty-seven at Portsmouth, 281 at Chillicothe, and 209 at Zanesville. Included in the figures are 180 veterans at Portsmouth, 133 at Chillicothe and 112 at Zanesville.

More than 90 percent of the branch student body is made up of freshmen. Portsmouth is the only city, Director Gubitz reports, "in which enrollment of sophomores justified the teaching of second-year subjects."

Men outnumber women at each of the cities, the same condition existing at Athens where women make up only 29 percent of the total. There are 264 men and 123 women at Portsmouth. The Chillicothe registration shows 197 men and 84 women. One hundred sixty-six men and 43 women have matriculated at Zanesville.

Assistant directors were appointed by Dr. Baker for each Branch. Ralph Elliott was named at Portsmouth, Thomas Vernia at Chillicothe, and Ellis Miracle, '29, at Zanesville.

Assistant dean of men and women serve at each branch. Irwin Washington is dean of men and Miss Mildred Giesecke, '34, dean of women at Portsmouth. Dean of men at Chillicothe is Paul Hydel while Miss Mary Evans is dean of women. Miss Rachael Higgins, '17, is dean of women at Zanesville.

The faculty is composed of 43 Ohio U. instructors and 57 off-campus teachers. A total of 130 courses and laboratory courses is offered, making possible small classes which are held from 3:30 to 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon Saturday in the high school buildings.

The off-campus instructors were chosen from the three high school staffs, industry, and from Muskingum College. Picked from industry were professional men including physicists, chemists, geologists, engineers and philosophers.

Here and There Among the Alumni

In order that present-day Ohioans may know something of the lives and activities of those who preceded them to the campus, references will be made each month to one or more outstanding graduates who have long since passed from the earthly scene.—Editor.

SAMUEL BIGGER (see picture) was born in Warren County, Ohio, March 29, 1802, the son of Col. John Bigger. No record exists of his campus days other than that he received the A.B. degree in 1825. Four years later he moved to Indiana where he continued the practice of law which had been started in Ohio. He was soon elected to the Indiana Legislature and was subsequently appointed judge of the Eastern Circuit Court, a position which he held for many years. In 1840, he was elected governor of Indiana. At the conclusion of his gubernatorial term he moved to Ft. Wayne, where he died in 1846.

As chipper and lively as a young blood, THOMAS L. YOUNG gave the Alumni Secretary a decided lift recently when he paid a visit to alumni headquarters on the campus. During the visit the picture of Mr. Young's two grandchildren (see page 14), William Thomas and Thomas Young Ingram, was solicited for publication by the editor of The Alumnus. These engaging youngsters, who are behaving quite normally and naturally for brothers, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Ingram (HE EN YOU 30, '29), Chester, W. Va. The grandfather is general manager of the South Side Water Works Company in Chester.

For the first time in many years the Alumni Secretary missed seeing STELLA KOONS at an alumni meeting in Cincinnati. She was not present at the party held in the Queen City on Nov. 23, but it is safe to assume that there was an acceptable excuse for her absence. Miss Koons was for years a teacher and principal in the Cincinnati public schools.

Reproduced below is a portion of a letter recently received from B. O. SKINNER, who has held school superintendencies in Marietta and Athens, is a former president of Wilmington College, and who is a former director of education for the State of Ohio. He is now retired and, with Mrs. Skinner, is living on "Chabeda Farm" near Marysville. Mr. Skinner attended Ohio University for two years in the late nineties, received a Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago in 1905, and in 1912 was awarded the Master of Science in Education degree by Ohio University. In reference to the portion of his letter that is reproduced at length, he says: "I can take Charles O'Bleness to task as he was the first Ohio U. student I met. He took me to East Wing and introduced me to the Registrar, Prof. Eli Dunkle, who was the Latin and Greek instructor."

In a recent copy of THE OHIO ALUMNUS Charles G. O'Bleness [98] tells of the football teams of the nineties; I wish to set him right on some minor details of the '96 and '97 seasons. About the time the '96 season began some one employed a Mr. Remsburg, a graduate of Wittenberg, as coach. In '95, a team was organized and played a few games. I did not enter the University until Apr. 1, '96, but I recall that a fellow by the name of McCullough told of the game with Marietta which, incidentally, was won by Marietta 75 to 0. He said the O. U. boys would tackle some one they thought had the ball while the real carrier would run for a touchdown.

In '96 O. U. won a few games. In the fall of '97 Russell Ford of Colgate came as coach and he proved himself a real leader. Three weeks before the end of the season his brother, a divinity student at Colgate, enrolled at O. U. The main purpose of his enrollment was to have him play in the Marietta game. (There were no eligibility rules in those days.) Russell Ford had played in all games prior to the Marietta game, but Marietta refused to play if R. Ford were in the line-up. On the team that year were "Bud" Dew, a bar tender in his father's saloon, at center and "Turk" Lowry who played a guard. "Pete" McLaren who afterward played at Ohio State, had transferred to Ohio U. from Marietta.

For the Marietta game a special train was run over the T. & O. C. via Pulos and Judge Wood adjourned court in order that those busy in the session could get to Marietta via Parkersburg. No such rivalry now exists and a hot game was played, the referee being I. M. Foster of Harvard. This I believe was a move engineered by the O. U. boys to insure a fair deal. Ohio won the game by a slight margin. [Mr. Foster graduated from Ohio University in 1895 and was attending Harvard Law School at the time of the game. When questioned by the Marietta captain as to which side had gained possession of the ball following a fumble Referee Foster is alleged to have replied, "Why, damn it, it's our ball."—Editor.]

The season was such a success that the Ohio U. students claimed the state championship. Ohio Wesleyan coached by a fellow named Fielding Yost also made a claim. Ohio U. challenged Wesleyan to a post season game, and made offer of the unheard of guarantee of $650 for the game, but Wesleyan refused.

Historian T. N. Hoover

Those were great days when O. U. had about 130 students.

The temporary closing of Ohio University 100 years ago interrupted its growth and prevented it from becoming "the greatest educational institution in Ohio," according to a statement made by THOMAS N. HOOVER (see picture), Ohio University history professor and university historian, when addressing a recent meeting of the Athens Rotary Club. Prof. Hoover, now oldest member of the faculty in point of service, told his audience that but for a three-year term of closure from 1845 to 1848 due to lack of funds, the university would have advanced "even more rapidly and there would have been no Ohio State University." In outlining the critical period in the institution's history, the speaker blamed the decline in funds on a failure of the legislature to re-evaluate the two townships of university land. . . . A casualty of the period, according to the historian, was President William Holmes McGuffey who incurred public ill will in his unsuccessful drive for the legislative re-evaluation and ultimately resigned, leaving the university in 1843 without a president. With President McGuffey went 30 students, dropping the student body to a total of 40. This figure had declined to 7 in 1845, the time of the closing.

1906

Taking a "postman's holiday" for the first time since his retirement from the managing editorship of the Athens Messenger exactly six months previously, CHARLES H. HARRIS had what he described as a "rare experience" when on a recent afternoon he visited a newspaper office in Goshen, Ind., a town near his present home. He reports to former local colleagues that it was good to hear the teletypes clicking again. He told also of having gone squirrel hunting for the first time in more than 30 years and of his luck in bringing down the game.

From his New York headquarters he travels widely as a lecturer and in behalf of numerous Jewish charities. His 17-year-old daughter is a junior in the University of Chicago. The father secured a master's degree from Harvard University not many years after graduation from Ohio University.

A prominent part was played last spring by IRENE ABER in the celebration of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the founding of the city of Huntington, W. Va. Miss Aber's contribution was in the form of a pageant written by her and depicting the part women had played in the development of the community. The reproduction was called, "A City Set Upon A Hill—A Picturama." Used in the pageant were 130 representatives of groups and a few outstanding individuals who had made special contributions to the life and growth of the city. Witnesses described the pageant as a colorful and beautiful affair. Miss Aber teaches Latin and is also dean of girls and director of activities in Huntington's Cammack Junior High School.

She has previously served as a regional director, and during the past year was chairman of the Committee on Programs and Speakers. There are over 11,000 members in the several hundred clubs which are federated in the Association. Members of the Athens Garden Club honored Mrs. Wolfe with a tea on Nov. 18. John W. Galbreath & Co., a Columbus real estate firm headed by JOHN W. "JACK" GALBREATH has been awarded a contract for management of residential properties at the atom bomb plant at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Besides housewifely duties in her home in London, Mrs. Harry A. High (GRACE BARKER) serves the Madison County Chapter of the American Red Cross as its executive secretary.

HOLLIE C. ELLIS, for many years a resident of Toledo, is now in Lakeland, Mich., where he is proprietor of the Lakeland Hotel, a resort hotel on Zukey Lake. With Mrs. Ellis he spends his winters in Florida. A former Bobcat gridiron lineman and later professional player, Hollie has been responsible for directing a number of Toledo athletes to Ohio University.

Fully separated from Army ties on November 1, JOHN M. EMDE (see picture) has returned to public school work in Akron where he is now principal of the Fraunfelder School. He entered the service in October, 1940, with the Ohio National Guard. After injuries sustained in 1943 while serving with the 37th Division in the Southwest Pacific, he was returned to the States for hospitalization. After going back to active duty the greater portion of his time was spent at Camp Hood, Texas, in command of an infantry replacement training regiment. His final rank was that of colonel.

Sale of the Banks Ice Cream Company in Athens to W. H. Lowman, former owner of Lowman's Restaurant (at one time, Broughton's) was announced last month. Associated with their father in the operation of the dairy products company have been MILDRED BANKS, ex, and GEORGE A. BANKS, '29. The younger man was Athens County's representative in the State Legislature in 1937-1938.

CHESTER E. EDGAR, 2-yr., is an electrical estimating engineer for the Electric Power Equipment Company in Columbus. Engineer Edgar married Miss RACHEL POWELL, '22x, of Athens, along about Christmas time in 1922. Don't forget the anniversary, Chet.

1922

GRACE BLAKE, instructor in journalism in McClain High School, Greenfield, was elected parliamentarian of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society at the annual state convention held October 4-6 in Canton. The society is an honorary organization for teachers. Only teachers who have been in service at least five years are eligible, however, and not more than 10 per cent of the teachers in a county may belong. There are chapters of the society in every county in Ohio and in every state in the Union.

MARK COWEN, superintendent of the Division of Recreation in Indianapolis, has recently accepted appointment to the evening division faculty of Butler University. Mark will scarcely know how to root when in the future Bobcat athletic teams appear in the Indiana capital against Butler, which, like Ohio, is one of the members of the new Mid-America Conference. In his three-hour evening course Mr. Cowen will discuss techniques in leadership and program planning, both indoor and outdoor.

Under the caption, "Big Victory Smiles," on Nov. 7 newspapers throughout the state published a picture of U. S. Senator-elect John W. Bricker and FRED H. JOHNSON, ex, Republican state chairman for Ohio, which was taken at the party headquarters in Columbus. Chairman Johnson is a former Zanesville insurance man.

"Getting on" in his field is almost an understatement in describing the progress of WALTER H. STEWART, 2-yr. in the steel business, with which he has been associated for the past 20 or more years. A former engineer and then district manager of the Truscon Steel Co., Mr. Stewart is now sales manager of the Reinforcing Products Division of the big Youngstown concern and a resident of the Mahoning Valley metropolis. He is also vice president of the Wire Reinforcement Institute, a national organization of producers of welded steel fabrics, with headquarters in Washington, D. C., and a director of the Concrete Reinforcing Steel Institute, a national organization of concrete bar producers and fabricators with headquarters in Chicago. Just recently, he was elected chairman of the American Iron & Steel Institute Committee on Reinforced Concrete Research.

CHESTER W. WOLFE, a former lieutenant colonel who commanded the 140th Field Artillery in the South Pacific, has returned to his prewar position as a teacher in Everett Junior High School, Columbus. He is married and has two daughters, 14 and 20 years of age.

Two "second generation" students on the Ohio University campus this year are BETTY LOU and BEVERLY LEE BIEFNES, twin daughters of HECTOR E. BIEFNES, 2-yr., and Mrs. Biefnes, Fredericktown. Another legacy from Fredericktown is DELLA MAE COCANOWER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cocanower (KATH-ERINE DAGLE, '23).

When Ohio University graduates serve as official representatives of their alma mater at special university ceremonies, particularly presidential inaugurations, they are often surprised and pleased to find the places of honor accorded them in academic processions and in special seating arrangements. Tradition calls for the seating of representatives in the order of the founding of their schools, the oldest heading up the lines or occupying the front row seats. Among Ohioans who have recently enjoyed such distinguished privileges, and the functions which they attended, are: Mrs. Raymond Chambers (NAOMI SHREVES), centennial anniversary, University of Buffalo, Oct. 3 and 4; CHARLES W. ETSINGER, '30, presidential inauguration, Earlham College, Richmond, Ind., Nov. 23; and Mrs. Paul S. Lomax (BEATRICE LOYER, '26), presidential inauguration, Bloomfield College, Bloomfield, N. J. At the University of Buffalo Mrs. Chambers witnessed the bestowing of honorary degrees upon 12 prominent persons, among them Supreme Court Justice Robert Jackson, Owen D. Young, and the presidents of Wellesley College and Cornell University. "A banquet," she reports, "at the Hotel Statler climaxed the series of exciting events." At Richmond the ceremonies continued over a period of five days. "The Quakers really do things right when they plan an event," reports O.U.'s representative, Charley Etsinger.

DAVID M. BRYSON, A.M. '37, is superintendent of the Vinton County schools. Although his official headquarters are in McArthur he still lives in Hamden where he was high school principal and school superintendent for more than 10 years.

On inactive duty with the Navy with the rank of commander, WILLIAM H. KEPLINGER, is now on the West Coast. He is associated with the Zellerbach Paper Company of San Francisco as credit supervisor for the divisions which are located in the western states. His headquarters are in San Francisco. The concern is an old one and well known in the paper industry. A former Bobcat quarterback, Bill still follows the fortunes of present day Bobcat teams with intense interest.

The management of the Cincinnati Reds, National League baseball club, has announced the appointment of ANGUS E. KING as a part-time talent scout in the Cincinnati area. Scout King is assistant physical education director for the Cincinnati public schools and was engaged in minor league baseball as a player for six years. He will be remembered by many as a stellar performer on Bobcat diamond teams of his day. He is a brother of DANA M. KING, '17, former director of athletics at the University of Cincinnati and now head football coach of Hamilton High School. The older brother is likewise a former Bobcat baseball star.

1927

COPELAND is now research psychologist in the Industrial Relations Department of the Atlantic Refining Company in Philadelphia.

From SGT. ERELL H. GREENLEE of the WAC Detachment at 8th Army Headquarters, Yokohama, Japan, comes the following interesting bit: "Just to show you what a small world this is; I was wishing aloud for an American greenback, as this occupation money of ours would be no good to you, when a Red Cross woman spoke up that she had one, what was I joining. She is a Ewing who attended in Athens one year, but the rest of the time in Delaware (so I gently reminded her of the last football score)." Sergeant Greenlee's letter was dated November 5. She had landed with the first WAC unit just three weeks previously. Miss Greenlee joined the service four years ago. She was at one time a teacher in the government schools in Alaska. The Alumni Secretary has written to inquire the full name of the Red Cross worker who had once attended Ohio University.

RUTH MCCLEAD, M.S. '41, is teaching in the home economics department of the State College of Washington at Pullman under Dr. Velma Phillips former head of the School of Home Economics at Ohio University. Miss McClead was at one time well embarked upon work for a Ph.D. degree at Cornell University but was forced to give it up on account of illness.

At a meeting of the Women's Press

Association held this fall in Harrisburg, Pa., in connection with the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association convention, MELLICENT HAZZARD was awarded a first place certificate for an "interview" and second place honor for a "feature story" in annual contests. Her two winnings gave her second place standing in five types of writing which were judged for sweepstakes honors. Formerly on the society desk, Miss Hazzard is now doing general news writing for the Washington (Pa.) Observer. The interview was with Mrs. Charty Scott Martin, wife of Governor Edward Martin, on the duties of the "First Lady of Pennsylvania."

In Washington, D. C., LOWELL H. HATTERY is busy writing his dissertation for a Ph.D. degree which he hopes to receive soon from the American University. The title of the dissertation is "The Administration of Social Science Research Studies in Government Agencies." He is also doing some incidental writing on his observations of South Sea Island natives when he was stationed there during the war as a Navy officer. At the National Academy of Science in Washington Mr. Hattery is making a long-range study of the "Supply and Demand of Professional Personnel." The study is being sponsored jointly by the Council of Learned Societies, Council of Social Sciences, American Council on Education, and the Council of Natural Sciences.

Athens has a new siren. Perhaps we should be more specific—it is a fire siren. It was ordered before the war but has only recently been installed. Its penetrating blasts can be heard in every section of the city. Always ready to respond to an alarm is CHARLES W. DALTON, local assistant fire chief.

BERNARD D. OSBORNE has been appointed assistant coordinator of Veterans Affairs at Ohio University to serve under Coordinator Victor Whitehouse. Last April the new man was transferred to Ohio University as a Veterans Administration registration officer from the old regional office at Dayton. After a couple of months on the campus he was transferred back to the regional office, now at Cincinnati. He resigned his V.A. position to become a member of the Ohio U. staff. A former officer in the AAF, Bernard is married and the father of a daughter, Jane Ann, two years of age.

The last name of MICHAEL IWANOTCHKO has been legally changed to "Dannis," surname of his half-brother. At the request of the Ohioan all university records will be changed immediately. Mike is an analytical chemist in the metallurgical department of the American Rolling Mills Company in Middletown. Mrs. Dannis is the former LAURA BROWN, '41, and a sister of Mrs. Thomas Fox (MARGIE BROWN, '37), of Berkeley, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Dannis have a daughter, Margaret Ann, who is just learning to walk, and their friends are expecting another announcement, come January.

KENNETH E. RUCKMAN, a former member of the faculty of the high school at Minerva, has been named supervisor of instrumental music in the Kent public schools. Mrs. Ruckman, also a musician, has opened a studio in Kent for instruction in piano. The new supervisor was a fraternity brother and roommate of SAMMY KAYE at Ohio University and was a member of Kaye's first "Swing and Sway" band. Mr. Ruckman and the swing maestro were in school in the late 20's and early 30's, the former returning at a later date to complete his degree work.

CAPT. HELEN E. POLANSKI, 3-yr. (see Marriages), a WAC officer who went to the South Pacific in 1944 and is now stationed in Japan, has recently completed supervision of the construction of a mess hall which will accommodate 1500 men. Included in her Special Service duties are the arranging of welcoming parties for wives coming from the States to join their husbands in Japan. She has put into operation a plan for "dressing up" the food served in mess halls and has inspected all of the mess halls in the eastern Pacific. She will retain her rating and expects to remain in Tokyo with her husband, Lieut. Col. J. H. Hicks, until he has completed his term of foreign service. The report of the marriage of Capt. Helen Polanski was received from a sister, VIOLET POLANSKI, '42, a teacher in the Niles public schools. The marriage item was accompanied by an expression of love and loyalty for alma mater which the editor may perhaps be forgiven for quoting directly. Writes Miss Violet: "We are so happy that the fifth and last member of our family is attending Ohio University. In 1927 I had dreams that some day my brothers and sister would have the same opportunity that I had. One by one they went and loved O.U. The war interfered. But my dreams came true when the youngest, Edward, enrolled in September." Besides those members of the family heretofore mentioned there are STANLEY J. POLANSKI, '42, and JOHN E. POLANSKI, '36.

KAY LOVELL, ex, has returned to her home in Leonia, N. J., after touring the European Theater of Operations as a member of the USO-Camp Shows version of the musical, "Pardon Me." Miss Lovell played a lead in the production which was presented to U. S. Army occupation forces from Bremerhaven to Vienna. She and her company travelled more than 15,000 miles in Army jeeps to give 200 performances. She reports that at Weisbaden she had a "shampoo, hair-set, manicure and all the rest, for exactly 30 cents and three cigarettes." Included among the highlights of her overseas tour was a visit to Berchtesgaden, the opera in Stuttgart, the prison where Hitler wrote "Mein Kampf," and the Dachau torture camp. She also visited Nuremberg and spent one day at the Nazi trials. Miss Lovell's sister, Dorothy, was a Red Cross entertainer in the Pacific area.

MADeline Kleinwaks is a buyer for Orbach's, Inc., a Newark, N. J., department store.

Out in Corvallis, Oregon, home of Oregon State College, HOMER E. VON BEHREN and Mrs. von Behren (MARJORIE WHEATON, '40), are owners and operators of the Campus Super Market and as such are purveyors of staple and fancy groceries.

RALPH E. POWELL (see picture) has a position on the advertising staff of the Post-Press newspapers in El Centro, Calif.

Recently he sent a panel of local advertising to the annual exhibit of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association in New York City. The panel, written for a local jeweler, was selected from among over 1,000 entries in the exhibit to be included in the association's "110 Idea Book" for 1947. Ralph's papers are the smallest to be represented in the new book, his work being in competition with advertising men on large metropolitan dailies.

FLOYD R. WEST and Mrs. West (MARLENE WIEMAN, '42) are living in West Lafayette, Ind., where the former has a half-time graduate assistantship in the Department of Botany and Plant Pathology at Purdue University. Like thousands of other ex-G.I.'s Floyd is looking for more satisfactory living quarters than have yet become available to him.

STANLEY C. LEVINSON is out in Van Nuys, Calif., where he is working as a manufacturers' representative in partnership with his father, a graduate of Harvard in the Class of 1923. While still overseas in the Army Stan attended Edinburgh University in Scotland under the Army education program. CHARLOTTA SCHAAL is a writer on the editorial staff of the Columbus Dispatch.

Previously unreported is the marriage of RUTH FLETTERER, Cuyahoga Falls, to a Harry Watkins whose parental home is not a matter of record in the Alumni Office. Mr. and Mrs. Watkins were married last December and are living in Detroit where the former is an accountant. The marriage was the result of a campus romance at Adrian College in Michigan where the bride spent her freshman year before transferring to Ohio University. Mrs. Watkins is a sister of Mrs. Donovan Zook (THERESA FUETTERER, '41), Arlington, Va.

Located in Dayton, MARILYN SCHIAKO is secretary to the manager of the Marketing Research Department of the Frigidaire Division, General Motors Corporation.

Upon graduation in February from the University of Cincinnati Medical School, JOHN W. STACK, with Mrs. Stack (JEAN HERRON, '45x), will enjoy a trip to Europe as a graduation gift from the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stack (LENORE SPRAGUE, '18), Athens. The mother is a local dentist, while the father is engaged in a retail grocery and meat business. The son, who will be 23 years of age when he receives his degree in medicine, won Phi Beta Kappa honors at Ohio University. Passage to England has been booked on the Queen Elizabeth. While in Europe Dr. Stack will visit medical schools and hospitals as well as a number of doctors and medical students in Switzerland, France, Denmark, and The Netherlands with whom he has been corresponding during recent years. He will begin his internship at the Baylor University Hospital, Dallas, Texas, next July. He has three years of service in the U. S. Navy with his credit.

ALMA HORTON (see picture) is secretary to the arithmetic editor of the Silver Burdett Publishing Company in New York City. She reports that DR. ROBERT L. MORTON, '13, of the Ohio University faculty, is one of the four authors of a series of arithmetics that her company is preparing to publish. Before going to work for the well-known publishing house Miss Horton was associated for a brief period with the classified advertising department of the New York Times. A resident of Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., Miss Horton has been responsible for directing almost a score of fine students to the campus of her alma mater. One of them, MARJORIE WISSE, was recently elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa.

JOHN FFKETE, a former paratrooper and prisoner of the Germans, has informed Coach Don Peden that he has retired from professional football to enter the real estate business in Los Angeles, Calif. John, one of the great backs in Bobcat football history, played his last year at Ohio U. in 1942. He returned to the campus this year where he completed work on his degree. He was signed with the Cleveland Browns in the All-America Conference and later was swapped to Buffalo in the same circuit.

JEAN ANNE ROBINSON recently accepted a position in the Milford schools near her home city of Cincinnati.

Newly embarked upon a position of great potentialities, PAUL BRICKMAN has an opportunity "to make history" in the field of public relations. This Ohio University journalism major has recently become director of public relations for the Evansville (Ind.) Manufacturers' and Employers' Association. His duties will be "to keep the public informed of industrial principles, policies and practices; and to promote the best industrial and public relations in Indiana, Illinois, and Kentucky." In addition to his position with the manufacturers' association, he has been retained as a public relations counselor to serve corporations in the Evansville area, among them: International Steel, Servel Inc., Seeger-Sunbeam, Hoosier Cardinal, Mead Johnson, Southern Indiana Gas & Electric, and Hercules Body. In the latter capacity he will work with the individual corporations on their public relations and their publicity problems. "The program is unique," Paul reports, "in that this is the first time a public relations set-up of this type has been attempted on such a large scale." At the annual meeting of the American Newspaper Advertisers Association in Atlantic City in October "The Evansville Plan" was presented to more than 500 advertising agency and newspaper men. It received national attention and has been written up in the leading advertising trade journals. Specialists agree that it may well become the pattern of future public-industry-community relations programs.

MARTHA WALSH, a student at the New York Institute of Fashion and Merchandising, is living at the McAlpin Hotel. For practical experience students in the school will act as sales persons in New York stores during the month of December. "It's a small world," reports Martha, who has met a number of former Ohioans in Gotham at the most unexpected times and places. Miss Walsh was a student assistant in the Ohio University Public Relations Office during her junior and senior years.

Deaths

HELEN MAUCK GALBREATH

Death, at the age of 49 and following a prolonged illness, came to Mrs. John W. Galbreath (HELEN MAUCK, '19), on Nov. 12, 1946, at University Hospital, Columbus. Mrs. Galbreath, wife of JOHN W. GALBREATH, '20, a prominent realtor, sportsman, and co-owner with Bing Crosby of the Pittsburgh Pirates baseball club, has been a resident of Columbus since her marriage in 1921. Mr. Galbreath is also chairman of the Board of Trustees of Ohio University, a trustee of the Ohio University Fund, Inc., and a past national president of the Ohio University Alumni Association.

Mrs. Galbreath was the daughter of the late JUDGE ROSCOE J. MAUCK, '90x, and Mrs. Mauck of Gallipolis. She had taught in the high school at Fairmont, W. Va., prior to her marriage.

Besides her husband Mrs. Galbreath leaves a daughter, Joan, and a son, Daniel. Despite her illness she was privileged to see the former graduate from Ohio University last June and the latter from the Columbus Academy. Dan is now a freshman student at Amherst College.

Among the pallbearers for the funeral service were U. S. Senator-elect John W. Bricker, State Treasurer Don Ebright, and Dr. J. F. BATEMAN, '22, all close personal friends of the Galbreaths. Burial was in Sunset Cemetery, Columbus.

WILLIAM FRANK COPELAND

W. FRANK COPELAND, JR., '16x, Evanston, Ill., was drowned in Lake Michigan Dec. 1, 1946, while on a visit to his daughter and son-in-law at Sault Ste. Marie. Mr. Copeland was the son of the late Prof. CHARLES M. COPELAND, '96, and Mrs. Copeland. The father was for many years head of Ohio University's School of Commerce, now the College of Commerce.

After attending Ohio University for three years, 1912-15, the deceased attended New York University for the next two years, working at the same time for the Provident Loan Society in New York City. This was followed by a period of service in World War I. After the war he accepted a position with the Union Trust Company in Cleveland. He had been associated with the First National Bank in Chicago for many years, however, holding a vice presidency at the time of his death.

He leaves a widow, the former FRANCES WINTERS, '16; a daughter, Mrs. Annette Moorhead, whose husband is an attorney in the northern Michigan city; and a grandson, four years of age. Besides these there are a sister, Mrs. Merrill E. Cooley (NELLE COPELAND, '15), Warren, and a brother, DEAN B. COPELAND, '20, Butler, Pa. Temporary interment was made in Butler.

WILLIAM B. MCPHERSON

WILLIAM B. MCPHERSON, '93, and '14, retired school administrator, died Oct. 19, 1940, at his home in Kingston. Word has come to the Alumni Office, belatedly, of his passing.

Mr. McPherson was born in Berlin, Ohio, in 1866 and first came to the Ohio University campus in 1885. He received the A.B. degree in 1893 and the B.S. in Education degree in 1914. His father and three brothers also attended Ohio University.

The deceased educator was a school superintendent in Pike County for a number of years following graduation from the university. Later, for 12 years, he was head of the Adelphi schools, and then, for nine years, of the Centralia Centralized School near Chillicothe, serving in the latter position until the time of his retirement. He was for many years a director of the Adelphi Banking Co.

In 1932 Mr. McPherson married Miss Leah B. Tussing by whom he is survived. Another survivor is his brother, Dr. H. F. McPherson, Baltimore, Md.

EDWIN LEE HARTMAN

EDWIN L. HARTMAN, '20, 2-yr., died Sept. 14, 1946, at his home in Parkersburg, W. Va. He was 80 years of age. Mr. Hartman began teaching at the age of 17 in Ritchie County, W. Va., remaining in that area until 1907 when he moved to Parkersburg. He was principal of the Park School, one of the larger Parkersburg grade schools, when he retired from professional activities in 1931, closing a teaching and administrative career of 48 years.

Besides his work at Ohio University, Mr. Hartman had attended the University of West Virginia, University of Pittsburgh, University of Cincinnati, and Marietta College.

In 1892 he married Miss Vista Wilson. They celebrated their fifty-fourth wedding anniversary last June. His wife survives. There are no children.

VITIS NICHOLAS DEMELL

A coronary thrombosis suffered on Aug. 1, 1946, while vacationing at his wife's home in Clay brought death to VITIS N. DEMELL (formerly DiMeglio), '34. He was an instructor in journalism in the high school at Deer Park, a Cincinnati suburb.

Mr. Demell is survived by his wife, the former ALICE RUTH DONLEY, '33, now an acting instructor in English at Ohio University, and two sons, Neale, 11, and Brian, 9.

The Extension Division

CLASS WORK

The Extension Division has extended the O.U. Campus to include all of southeastern Ohio.

Each semester evening classes taught by resident faculty are conducted in the larger southeastern Ohio towns.

Annually from 200 to 300 students earn standard transferable credit in this way.

CORRESPONDENCE INSTRUCTION

The Correspondence Department annually teaches from 1000 to 1200 students by mail. Many of these students are members of the Armed Forces or veterans under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

CREDIT

In extension classes and in correspondence study a student may earn as many as 40 of the required 124 semester hours for a bachelor's degree.

RECOGNITION

The Extension Division is a member of the National University Extension Association. This association is composed of the extension divisions of 60 colleges and universities of national standing.

The N.U.E.A. promotes and upholds standards by strict procedures for admission.
